

'Twas the night before Christmizzle,
when all through the hizzle,

Not a creature was stirring, not even a mizzle;
The stockings were hung by the chimney with care,
In hopes that St. Nicholas soon would be there;

But this year, Santa's got a different plan,
He's sending someone else to do what he do.
So, who's coming to town, with his reindeer crew?
None other than me, ya boy, Snoop on the Stoop!

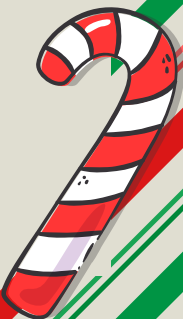

Fo shizzle, my nizzle, Santa thought it'd be tight,
To send me over to your crib for the night.
I ain't no elf, but I'm here to bring cheer,
To keep things jolly as I make my premier.

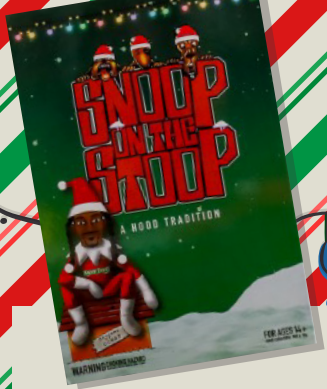

So, as you lay down and your head hits the pillow,
Just know I'm around, chillin' like the coolest fellow.
I'll be keepin' an eye out, making sure all is cool,
While bringing some fun, that's the Yuletide rule.

Don't worry about a thing, just enjoy the season,
With Snoop on the Stoop, we don't need a reason.
So, happy holidays to all, and to all a good night,
Let's make this Christmas one heck of a sight.

Stay cool and have a merry time,
And be of good cheer as you recite my rhyme.
Peace and Happy Holla Dayz!
